With the exception of a few rumors of what will be done next year in the big leagues and in minor teams, and the playing of the last few games in the series that is under way by the leagues, baseball has lost its hold and the crop of foot ball rumors begins to be circulated over the land in great quantities.

All of the college teams are practicing hard or are getting into shape for games against their ancient enemies from the other colleges.

Speculation is heard as to the possibilities of the teams in this fall's playing, and the Akron contingent of amateurs is in as excellent fettle as it has been in for years.

There can be no doubt that foot ball has a strong hold on the American people. As soon as the hottest of the summer weather is over the devotees begin to gather and wonder about the various teams. As soon as there is a possibility of games they are watched with an interest that exceeds the fever of the base ball follower. Although the foot ball season is short, the games have good attendances wherever they are desolved.

WRIGHT DESIRABLE.
Pitcher Gene Wright is getting to be a very desirable morsel for the base ball managers. He has already had several offers for his services in the games of next year. Now the president of the Brooklyn club has gone out into the west and is trying to get Wright to join the team of the New York suburb for next year.

The Brooklyn got a man from the Dayton but when their representative was there, Wright was not in sight and his whereabouts were not exactly known. More of the players in the same league will shine among the big ones next season.

AKRON'S FOOT BALL EMIGRANTS.
Akron is very well represented in the foot ball teams of the Cleveland schools, Reserve and Case almost depending on the Tip Top City for their main strength. The aggregations there usually fight very hot battles in the foot ball season and the material that goes to make them up is always of the very best.

RIPANS

Pimples Disfigured Her Face

Miss Mary Hoehl, of 189 Meserole st. Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

For almost a year I had pimples which disfigured my whole face. I used almost everything, but to no purpose. At last a friend of mine advised me to try Ripans Tablets. After taking the first three boxes, the pimples seemed to be getting worse and worse, and I wanted to quit taking them, but my friend told me to take another three boxes and I would be all right. I did so, and now my complexion is as clear as I could wish it to be. I will recommend Ripans Tablets to all my friends. You can use this testimonial.

RIPANS CURED HER

There is scarcely any condition of skin that is not benefited by the occasional use of a R.I.P.A.N.S. Tablet, and the price for 5 cents, does not bar them from any home or justify any one in enduring the ill that are easily cured. For sale by druggists.

FERN'S WON.
Buffalo, Sept. 24.—Frank Erne, the lightweight champion, was defeated by Rube Ferns, the welterweight champion, at the new club house of the International A. C. at Port Erie, Monday night. A right on the jaw that seemed to daze Erne followed by a hard left swing full on the unprotected jaw put the Buffalo boy down and out. Ferns started right after his man in the first round, putting him down with a right plump in the mouth.

Ferns' face was bleeding badly in the seventh and eighth rounds, but his strength seemingly was unimpaired and he chased Erne about the ring. In the ninth, Ferns smashed a right on the jaw that dazed the Buffalo boy and Ferns followed him up, swinging a hard left full on the jaw; Erne slowly toppled over backward and was counted out.

AKRON CLUB MATTERS.
The attendance at the various athletic clubs of the city and their memberships have increased nightly with the few first days of cool weather. All of the clubs are taking in new men and the prospects are for a busy winter. The membership at the South End has grown more swiftly, perhaps, than any other, but the other organizations all have grown to report and are pleased with the winter's outlook. The Planets are prospering, the North Ends intend to prosper as soon as they have a home, the Yales are in line with good athletic teams and the Stars are in the football field and ready to make a name for themselves.

There is not a city of the size of Akron in the country that has as many athletic clubs in a flourishing condition as Akron.

It has been the intention of the management of the South End club for some time to try and engineer an athletic show and it is known that the club has many aspiring pugilists who would be very glad to show what they can do.

It is found to be impossible to get the proper permission for a show in which boxing will be among the features, however and the club members are in disgust. The fact that there have been prizefights in the State in the last few weeks has made the clubmen more hopeful, however, and there is a chance that something will yet be done along this line.

YALES—HIGH SCHOOL.
The youthful second Yales and the second team of the Akron High school met on the West Hill grounds Saturday and played a strenuous game of football. There were many star plays by the members of both teams and when the smoke of the battle cleared away it was found that the Second Yales were the victors by a score of 5 to 0. Football games are being played with much vigor.

SIMMS' CHANCES.
All of the sporting writers are commenting on the fact that McGovern is now on record as ready to meet the many fighters who have been after him in the past and it seems to be the opinion of the majority that Art Simms would have about the best show to defeat the champion of any of the fighters that are after him. This is the chance that all of the corners have been waiting for and it is probable that a great many challenges will be made in a few days or weeks.

McGovern has been fighting easy things for some time and the fact that he will engage his title and fight some good men has given the boxing game an added interest.

PITTSBURGH AND THE PENNANT.
Pittsburg appears to have a cinch on the National League baseball pennant and the satisfaction that reigns in the Smokey City is counteracted by a corresponding depression in the other cities that have had teams in the League this year.

NORTH END CLUB'S HOME.
The North End Athletic club will, in all probability have a home that will be second to the quarters of no Akron club, and its location will be such that a great many Akron young men, who have not yet joined athletic clubs, will be induced to join.

Arrangements have been completed to lease quarters in the Walsh Block. A lease of quarters 40 by 60 feet has already been written and will be signed at a meeting to be held Thursday night. If necessary two doors will be leased. The lease will be made for three years and the club members will start in at once to improve and get the place ready for the members. The situation of the club has caused many of the younger down town business men to announce that they will join, as the other clubs are not situated conveniently for them.

While the name of the club will not be changed it will be in the nature of a central athletic club and the long lease is such as will permit a great deal of improvement to the quarters.

FINE

Performance at the Grand.

Very Small Crowd to Witness It.

It is evident that Akron people do not closely follow the doings of stage folk, and that when they wish to go to a show they choose one that has a name that pleases them, for the attendance at the excellent performance of "The Watch on the Rhine," at the Grand opera house Monday evening was so much smaller than the houses that saw the very mediocre performances last week that their sizes can scarcely be compared.

A performance was given that will rank well above the average that may visit Akron this season; there is a strong and very pretty love story running through the play and it was worked out most excellently by Mr. Al H. Wilson's company. Intrigue, comedy, and excellent music combined to make an attraction that will be remembered very pleasantly by those who saw it.

Tonight there will be the laughing hit, "Sister Act," and Wednesday night Lincoln J. Carter's "Heart of Chicago" will hold the boards.

REPAIRS.

The Railroads Now Ready to Make Them.

Railroads are now getting down to the repair work of the year.

The annual renewal of the rails that wear out each year will soon be made and the roads turned up, after the summer rush. In other years there has been a great deal of work accomplished by this time but the roads were so busy this year that they had to wait and hope for time to do their repair work. Hundreds of car loads of rails to be used in the work of renewal have passed through Akron, some of them for the local branches of the roads and others going to all parts of the country.

The Akron division of the B. & O. will have a more thorough overhauling this time, probably, than any of the other roads through Akron.

Mr. G. A. Stillman, a merchant, of Tampico, Ill., writes: "Foley's Kidney Cure is meeting with wonderful success. It has cured some cases here that physicians pronounced incurable. I myself am able to testify to its merits. My face today is a living picture of health, and Foley's Kidney Cure has made it such."

Notice.

To all contractors, builders, to the different labor organizations and to the public in general of the city of Akron:

As employees of the firm of Akers & Harpham, of this city, we desire to state that we have unanimously voted to return to work on the same terms as existed before the strike. Having decided after careful investigation, that the treatment of its employees by the said firm has been entirely fair as compared with other shops in our trade in this city and in agitating a strike we believe that the Sheet Metal Workers' union not only did an injustice to our firm, but also to ourselves. The past treatment of its employees by the firm of Akers & Harpham warrants the support of every man in the city who upholds fair dealing.

AMBITIONS

Of Dobson and Sanford

Couldn't Check Speed of 'Squire Falor.

Negligence of D. A. Doyle Also Overcome.

Although Not Nominated Formally,

The 'Squire Gets In and Lands Appointment of Justice.

For awhile it was hard to tell what was going on, but when the climax came it was plain beyond dispute that 'Squire H. S. Falor was the man. Council, on the 22nd ballot, elected him Justice of the Peace to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Vincent Hebling. He will have nearly a year and a half to serve.

When Council began operations three candidates were nominated—A. C. Holloway, E. C. Housel and Cornelius J. Maloney, and then the nominations were closed. But at this juncture a voice was heard. It was that of Dayton A. Doyle, Esq., and he demanded complete and detailed information relative to whether it were possible to enter another name. "Too late now," replied President Koons, "and besides you are not a member of this body."

"Well, I had a duty to perform, and I see my mistake in not watching the proceedings closer. I promised to see that the name of another candidate was presented."

"Too late now—gentlemen, prepare your ballots," continued the officer of the gavel, and the dance went on, while without the portals lingered a man in whose countenance were written unmistakable signs of anger—that person was a gentleman named Falor.

But his thoughts troubled not the younger men in the race, as they maneuvered for a good start—which they never obtained. Up to the 14th ballot seven votes—often more he got 6, and once he decreased to 5; Housel continued with 5 and 6, and Maloney received 2 and 3. It required 9 to elect, as there were only 13 members present.

When the 15th ballot was reached the bars were thrown down, and Mr. Falor leaped clear into the middle of the track and started off with a vote of 4 to get warmed up; Councilman Walker also got in, but as he was flagged by a vote of 1, he "broke" and withdrew. By the time all was ready for the 16th ballot, Col. H. C. Sanford's friends had the situation sized up, and hustled him into the ring. The good news of the opportunity had also reached the friends of Editor R. T. Dobson by the time the 17th ballot was tapped and he was started in as a dark horse, but as his round-up showed only one point, his exit was speedier than his entry.

Here Mr. Walker shouted from the judge's stand, "We want no more tomfoolery. The red lemonade and peanut days of this Council should be at an end."

"See that you emulate that doctrine yourself," replied Mr. Martin, whose sporting blood was thoroughly stirred up.

All side issues escaped the attention of 'Squire Falor, who was busying himself with getting ready for a swift and steady gait. Along about this time Mr. Housel withdrew, and with flying colors and head erect the 'Squire took a long spurt forward, with Mr. Holloway keeping nearest to him. He weakened in the 18th and 19th ballots, regained in the 20th, and was going like chain-lightning in the 21st, lacking only one point of winning. In the 22nd his move was majestic and like the wind. Had the balloting continued two minutes longer he would have been 600 votes ahead, but was stopped with 11, with Mr. Holloway finishing with two, and Mr. Maloney being entirely forgotten.

"Speech! Speech!" demanded the crowd, and Mr. Falor came forward smiling, having enjoyed the excitement and the rivalry. He also enjoyed the result, and said: "Gentlemen of the Council, I thank you sincerely for the honor you have given me. I hope you will never have occasion to regret it. In the discharge of my duties I shall know no party, no ring, no clique. I shall endeavor to give justice to all."

cigars brought to the Council chamber and passed around. He will be ready for duty in a few days. Among the first to extend him congratulations was Mr. Housel, and his other opponents were likewise charitable.

The duties of administering justice will not be new to Mr. Falor, as he has served in the capacity of Justice of the Peace before. He is well known in this city, and numbers his friends by the hundreds.

Consumption Threatened.

C. Unger, 212 Maple st., Champaign, Ill., writes: "I was troubled with a hacking cough for a year and I thought I had consumption. SMOOTH

Season For the Railroads.

Few Accidents Have Been Encountered.

Unusually Busy and Prosperous.

Repairs Delayed Because of the Big Rush.

It is claimed by the officials of the railways that run through Akron that there never was a time when the many roads were busier and at the same time running more smoothly than they are now. The scarcity of cars has been the most serious obstacle to the peace of the officials, but the usual wrecks and troubles that were encountered in other seasons have been few this year although the special trains and extra traffic has been greater than ever before.

The maintenance of the track and property of the roads has given very little trouble and the railway men though afraid that if they boasted there may be trouble immediately, believe that they have had an unusually fortunate and prosperous season. Improvements and enlargements will be made by all the roads as soon as there is time for the work.

Don't forget to visit I. J. Frank's Millinery opening, Sept. 26 and 27. It will be of great value to you.

SUPERINTENDENT

Will Tell Board About Naughty Boys.

Three High school students of the class of '03 fastened their colors on the front and outside of the building 50 feet from the ground Saturday evening. The upper classmen made futile attempts to tear the colors down, but finally the boys who put them up were forced to take the colors down themselves. The trouble has stirred up things considerably at the High school, but the boys who started it are now sorry for their acts and promise to be good.

Superintendent Hotchkiss will make a report on the trouble to the Board of Education Tuesday evening.
